

Life Is Like Optimization

Life is like optimization, the starting point is randomly assigned;

Life is like optimization, the meaningful goal is always the optimal point;

Life is like optimization, nobody knows the entire picture but the small region he stands on;

Life is like optimization without a global optimum, however, there are lots of local optima one can achieve;

*Life is like optimization, the better one knows about his current situation,
the more accurate the next step is toward the goal;*

Life is like optimization, the persistence on the right direction will bring you to the optimum sooner or later.

Valentine's Day '04